2. Overview. This is a recognition program designed to highlight some of the best practices used in eye care. Optometry and ophthalmological practices may participate by completing and submitting an online application (the “Application”) during the Submission Phase. In its application, each applicant must share a practice profile and story about why the applicable Eligible Optometry and/or Ophthalmological Practice is deserving of being named a Best Practice (each, a “Best Practice”). In addition, an Applicant must choose at least one of five categories that they wish to highlight and share their insights and experiences concerning the applicable category or categories. The five categories are: Industry Advancement; Community Impact; Patient Experience; Specialty Services; and Team Building (each a “Best Practice Category,” or, together, the “Best Practice Categories”). An Application may include submissions for more than one Best Practice Category; however, an Applicant can only be named a Best Practice in one Best Practice Category. All Applications will be initially screened to ensure they meet eligibility criteria and are Valid Applications (as described in Section 5). Valid Applications will be subsequently reviewed by a selection committee comprised of Eye Care Professionals using the criteria set forth in Section 6 below to select the 2022 Best Practices. Best Practices will be announced commencing at the Announcement Time and recognized for their efforts in being named a Best Practice. For purposes of these terms and conditions, "State" means one of the fifty states comprising the United States and "D.C." means the District of Columbia.

3. Eligibility: The Best Practices Recognition Program is open only to individual Eligible Practices (defined below). An Eligible Practice may submit an application by way of an optometrist, ophthalmologist, optician, administrator, contact lens technician, optometric technician, practice manager, office manager, optical manager, receptionist, or other individual who is authorized by the Eligible Practice to submit an application (each, an “Applicant”). Each Applicant must be a legal resident of a United States state or the District of Columbia and at least 21 years of age at the time of Application.

An "Eligible Practice" is defined as an optometry or ophthalmological practice in good standing with a physical location within a United States state or the District of Columbia that provides contact lens fittings and follow-up care and may offer one or more of the following services: Primary Care Eye Examinations, Disease Diagnosis and treatment, Vision Therapy, Low Vision Rehabilitation, Surgical Procedures, Ocular Plastic Surgery, Spectacles Fittings and follow-up Care, Pre- and/ or Post-Surgical Care, Occupational Vision Consulting. If a practice is part of a group (such as a retail group or managed care group), only individual locations of that group can be an Eligible Practice; provided that each location of a group may participate.

Employees and directors, together with members of their immediate families (parent, child, sibling and spouse of each regardless of where they reside) and those living in their same households (whether or not related), of CooperVision and its subsidiaries and equity affiliates and any person supporting the Program, including the Administrator and Program Entities and their parent, subsidiary and equity affiliates, and any advertising and promotion agencies of any of the foregoing entities are ineligible to submit an Application. Any practice that has an optometrist, ophthalmologist, optician, administrator, contact lens technician, optometric technician, practice manager, office manager, optical manager, receptionist, or other individual serving as (or has served as) a consultant or researcher for CooperVision within six (6) months of the last day of the Final Selection phase shall be disqualified from being selected as a Best Practice. Any practice that has been selected as a Best Practice is not eligible to participate in the Program and is not eligible for selection. Void outside the U.S., in Puerto Rico, and wherever else prohibited by law.

By submitting an Application, an Eligible Practice, its Applicant, directors, officers and employees agree to these full terms and conditions that will govern all aspects of your relationship with the Program, the Microsite and CooperVision, Administrator, Program Entities and agents. These terms and conditions cannot be modified or superseded except by CooperVision, in its sole discretion, as posted on the Microsite.

4. How to Apply

To apply online via a written application, authorized Applicants should go to www.apply.EyeCareBestPractices.com (the "Microsite") and follow instructions to (a) complete the registration form and user profile providing all information requested, including the full name and email address of the Applicant submitting the Application, the name of the practice, year established, complete address of the Eligible Practice, including city, State, and zip code, phone number, practice type, year established, lead doctor name and e-mail address, total number of doctors in practice, services offered, website address, and applicable social media handles (collectively, the "Practice Information"); (b) submit an essay of no more than 1,000 words in English that best represents why you feel you have a best practice; (each, a "Written Application"); (c) answer at least one Best Practice Category specific question; and (d) agree to these terms and conditions.

CooperVision reserves the right in its sole discretion to accept or reject Applications that do not comply with these terms and conditions, including the Application format and length limitations. Each potential Best Practice may be required to submit to a confidential background check to confirm eligibility and help ensure that the use of any such Applicant and/or Eligible Practice in advertising or publicity for the Program will not bring CooperVision into public disrepute, contempt, scandal or ridicule or reflect unfavorably on the Program as determined by CooperVision in its sole discretion. CooperVision reserves the right to disqualify a potential Best Practice on the basis of the findings resulting from such background check.

5. Confirmation of Application: Once you click the "Submit" button, you will see a page that confirms that your Application has been received and submitted into a review process. Please note that at this point your Application is not yet considered a Valid Application, as defined below, in the Program. If you receive a message that the Application is incomplete, you will have the opportunity to correct the Application or provide required information.

All Applications that are submitted during the Submission Phase will be reviewed and only those that conform to the Program Terms and Conditions ("Valid Application"), as determined by CooperVision, in its sole discretion will continue to the Final Review Phase.

Once an Application is submitted it is considered final and may not be modified or edited.

Limit: One (1) Application per Eligible Practice for the duration of the Program. Each Application must include at least one (1) and up to five (5) Best Practice Categories. CooperVision is not responsible for lost, late, illegible, or incomplete Applications or Applications not received for any reason. Applications become the sole property of CooperVision, and none will be acknowledged or returned.

6. Final Selection Phase: Valid Applications will be reviewed by a Selection Committee comprised of vision care professionals (the "Selection Committee") appointed by CooperVision, who shall use, among other factors, the criteria set forth below to determine the Finalists:

- Demonstrates how the Eligible Practice has excelled in the respective Best Practice Category

The decisions of CooperVision and/or its agents (including, without limitation, the Selection Committee) are final on all matters relating to the Program. In the event of a tie in determining a Best Practice, the tied Valid Applications will be reviewed and scored by a separate Selection Committee to be determined by CooperVision using the criteria outlined above to determine the Best Practice.

7. Recognition: Each Best Practice will be provided with an icon/badge/promotional assets. Each practice will receive photographs of their practice and staff during an onsite congratulatory session. Each Best Practice will be acknowledged and recognized in the press and through events, publications, and an

Applicants agree to be bound by the terms of these terms and conditions and by the decisions of CooperVision, which are final and binding on all matters pertaining to this Program. As a condition of receiving any recognition, within ten (10) business days following the date of first attempted notification, the applicable Applicant and separately, a party legally authorized to do so on behalf of the applicable Eligible Practice, must each sign and return an Affidavit of Eligibility, a Liability Release and where legally permissible a Publicity Release as set forth above to the Administrator at the address provided in such notification. The foregoing documents shall require certification, among other things, of the following by the applicable Applicant: (a) the applicable Valid Application does not defame or invade the privacy of any party; (b) the applicable Valid Application does not infringe upon or otherwise violate or interfere with the rights of any third party; and (c) all materials contained in the applicable Valid Application are original and have never been published and the applicable Valid Application has never won a Best Practices award. A false or deceptive Application or acts will render the applicable Applicant and Application ineligible. CooperVision, in its sole discretion, reserves the immediate and unrestricted right to disqualify any Applicant and/or Eligible Practice, if he, she or it commits or has committed any act, or has been involved or becomes involved in any situation or occurrence which CooperVision deems likely to subject CooperVision, Applicant and/or Eligible Practice to ridicule, scandal or contempt or which reflects unfavorably upon CooperVision in any way. If such information is discovered by CooperVision after an Applicant and/or Eligible Practice has received notice of Best Practice status and before the recognition is awarded, CooperVision may rescind the recognition and status as a Best Practice in its entirety. If a portion of the recognition has already been awarded, CooperVision may withdraw the remainder of the recognition that has not been fulfilled. Decisions of CooperVision are final and binding in all matters related to this Program. CooperVision is not responsible for any typographical or other error in the printing of the offer, administration of the Program, or in the announcement of the Best Practices.
