VOSH International

(Volunteer Optometric Services to Humanity)
Student Chapters (SVOSH)

Program description

Established in 1971, Volunteer Optometric Services to Humanity (VOSH) is a non-profit organization with a mission to bring vision care to people around the world, particularly in developing nations. VOSH is also committed to being the voice of optometry within those countries. There are student chapters of VOSH at most of the optometry schools and colleges, and members participate in mission trips to serve populations in need with eye examinations and the fitting of glasses.

How the program works

CooperVision provides an annual grant to all participating SVOSH chapters. Grants are sent to each registered program in the month of September. No action is required by the participating SVOSH chapters or their schools or colleges of optometry.

Who is eligible?

All optometry schools and colleges are eligible for the program grants, provided they are registered as a student chapter with VOSH International.

Check to make sure your school and/or college is registered here: <http://vosh.org/chapters/student-chapters>

Enrollment process

Any school interested in creating a VOSH student chapter should register here before August in order to be eligible for September grant distribution: <http://vosh.org/chapters/student-chapters/>
